Should Roceive the Most Attention in Arithmeffe?" Mr. White hald that no practical reacher could have only one practical reacher could have only one method in teaching affiting he, but would be original where originality to instead was demanded. He suid that much that was wheted in teaching all the interests and desirates arithmetic, because those of C. E. Fronch in exchange with the particular distincts arithmetic, because those of C. E. was depended. He said that much time van winted in teaching with the parties and heatiness arithmetic, because those pupils who went into hisdness would find that every man had a deferent system. He believed that the old notion that algebra was a study distinct from arithmetic should be done away, with that algebra was a study distinct from arithmetic should be done away, with that algebra should be done away, with that algebra should be a part of arithmetic and that algebraic principles should be read that algebra were elected.
